

JPMorgan Provident Growth Fund

- The Fund invests primarily (at least 70%) in a professionally managed portfolio of interests in collective investment schemes (including exchange-traded funds). The underlying assets of the Fund will have a majority investment in global equity markets to seek potential higher returns although the Fund may be weighted towards Hong Kong and Asian markets at the discretion of the Manager, whilst balancing this with a minority exposure to fixed income securities to maintain capital value and income stability.
- The Fund is therefore exposed to risks related to investment, equity, emerging markets, concentration, small and medium-sized companies, currency, hedging and derivatives, risks of investing in other collective investment schemes and risks associated with debt securities (including investment grade bond, credit, interest rates, valuation and sovereign debt and high volatility of the emerging market equities).
- Where the income generated by the Fund is insufficient to pay a distribution as the Fund declares, the Manager may in its discretion determine such distributions may be paid from capital. Investors should note that the payment of distributions out of capital represents a return or withdrawal of part of the amount they originally invested or from any capital gains attributable to that original investment. As a result, the capital that the Fund has available for investment in the future and capital growth may be reduced. Any payments of distributions by the Fund may result in an immediate decrease in the net asset value of units. Also, a high distribution yield does not imply a positive or high return on the total investment.
- Investors may be subject to substantial losses.
- Investors should not solely rely on this document to make any investment decision.
